Assistant Director Courtney Evans called me last evening to advise that the Attorney General had relayed a message to him through our New York office to the effect that he did not want any "crackpot" individuals or organizations going to Cuba at this particularly sensitive time. Apparently what the Attorney General had in mind were individuals who might make assassination attempts or organizations like Alpha 66 who might approach Cuban shores and fire shots as was done against Havana some weeks ago.

On receiving this information from Mr. Evans, I had our Miami office thoroughly alerted to this matter with instructions to be especially active in developing any information of this kind and advising the Bureau immediately. I also had the Central Intelligence Agency advised of this matter.
